Mr. Cortlandt S. Dietler, President
The Hundred Club of Denver
P.O. Box 5660
Denver, Colorado 80217

Dear Mr. Dietler:

Thank you for your kind invitation to address The Hundred Club of Denver on Tuesday, May 17th, in Denver. Since my schedule for next year is not firm, I am unable to make a commitment this far in advance and must decline the honor. Thank you for thinking of me, and please extend my regards to the members of your fine organization.

Sincerely yours,

/s/ William H. Webster

RE: Speaking Invitation
The Hundred Club of Denver
Denver, Colorado
17 May 1988

President of The Hundred Club of Denver Cortlandt S. Dietler who is also President of Comar Oil Company has invited you to speak at the Club's 19th Annual Meeting on Tuesday, May 17th, 1988 in Denver. The proposed format is informal remarks followed by a question and answer period. Leading Denver businessmen would make up the audience. Last year William A. Gavin, Assistant Director of the Inspection Division for the FBI, spoke to the group.

According to Mr. Dietler, The Hundred Club is a low-profile group whose sole purpose is to lend financial assistance to the survivors of police officers and firemen in the Denver metropolitan area, as well as Colorado State Highway Patrolmen who lose their lives in the line of duty. The Club also presents a Distinguished Service Award in recognition of heroism and courage. Approximately 65 similar clubs exist throughout the world. All are patterned after the first Hundred Club founded in 1952 in Detroit.

I do not believe that this is an appropriate forum for you as Director of Central Intelligence to address. With your busy fall schedule and many speaking invitations coming in, I think that our priorities are to address groups such as World Affair Councils, academic institutions, and meetings of financial leaders. If you agree, attached is a letter of regret to Mr. Dietler for your signature.

Attention: Mr. William M. Baker,
Director of Public Affairs

Dear Mr. Baker:

On Tuesday, 17 May 1988, The Hundred Club of Denver will hold its 19th Annual Meeting. It would be greatly appreciated if the Director, Mr. William Webster, would be so kind as to consider briefly addressing this group of leading Denver businessmen on this occasion.

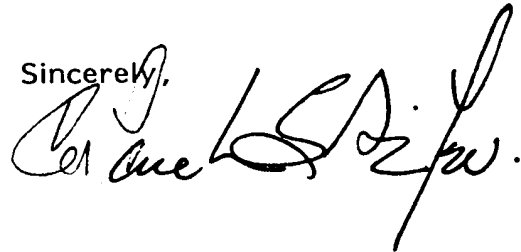

Last year's speaker was Mr. William A. Gavin of the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

As I am sure you are aware, The Hundred Club is a low-profile group whose sole purpose is to lend financial assistance to the survivors of police officers and firemen in the Denver metropolitan area, as well as Colorado State Highway Patrolmen, who lose their lives in the line of duty. The Hundred Club has been in existence for 18 years and has substantially assisted 22 families. I believe this would be an interesting forum, should the Director be able to fit it into his demanding schedule. Informal remarks, with the opportunity for questions, would be an ideal format if that would be agreeable.

The Hundred Club of Denver would be most gratified and appreciative of your assistance regarding the possibility of Mr. Webster addressing our group. We would be deeply honored by his presence.

I thank you for your courtesy and interest.

Sincerely,

Enclosure
